

“Spinning”- Tony Sides (1/1)

EXT. JACKIE'S HOUSE - DAY

JACKIE (15), a sunburnt kid with dozens of mosquito bites, sits atop a hefty motorcycle. She revs the engine. It erupts into a roar, shaking her body.

She hears the dainty sound of an ice cream truck. AUDREY(22), a cool girl in a band tee, sits in the driver's seat.

AUDREY
(yelling)
JACKIE! Let's haul ass, the good people are waiting!

Jackie hurries over to the passenger seat.

EXT. ICE CREAM TRUCK - DAY

Jackie drops the cone. It splatters on the ground.

JACKIE
I'm sorry. Let me get you another one.

Audrey and Jackie stand in the window of the truck. A few BEACHGOERS line up holding cash. Audrey takes cash from some customers.

AUDREY
Tony!

JACKIE (CONT'D)
Tony!

TONY How's it going?

TONY (30s), an older guy with a happy uncle persona, fist bumps both of them. Audrey hands him a cone.

JACKIE
We're alive.

TONY
How's the motorcycle?

JACKIE
Oh it's good. I never ride it so...

TONY
Listen if you ever get tired of looking at that thing...

TONY (CONT'D)
you know where I live. I'd be happy to take it off your hands.

She smiles at him. Waves goodbye. He walks off.

AUDREY
You wouldn't do that, would you?

JACKIE
Give Tony my dead mother's motorcycle?

AUDREY
Okay... I didn't think so.

Jackie puts out a sign that says "ON BREAK - BACK IN 15".

INT. ICE CREAM TRUCK - DAY

Audrey looks at a text on her phone. IT READS "THE JOB IS YOURS. CALL ME." She sighs.

Jackie comes around the corner holding two cones. Audrey hides her phone.

JACKIE
I saw your boyfriend earlier.

AUDREY Who?

JACKIE
That curly-haired one... with the big gap tooth.

Audrey winces. Jackie fidgets with a lighter.

JACKIE (CONT'D)
What? He was nice.

AUDREY
Trust me. He wasn't.

JACKIE
Okay... my bad.

AUDREY
Is there anyone at school you like?

JACKIE
Mmmm. Sometimes I see Andy looking at me in class.
